Hello Blanchester Intermediate School Parents and Guardians!

We wrapped up a successful week of MAP testing in 4 subject areas: math, reading, language usage, and science. These test results provide our teachers with a baseline of your child's knowledge in each subject and will help us to differentiate and grow your child. We also use MAP testing to identify students who are gifted in reading or math. If your child missed any portion, I will offer makeup testing next week.

I also wanted to share a few reminders and updates.

- If your child is sent home sick, your child should also stay home the following day as well. Teachers will send a computer and charger as best they can and they will post the missed work on Google Classroom, if applicable.
- Students will be using their own pair of headphones/ earbuds. Please make sure your child has a pair to use at school.
- All students now have access to free breakfast and lunch at school. Students may take home any extra, non perishable food they don't eat at school.
- I've had a few concerns from students about needing mask breaks while on the bus. I reached out to the Clinton County Health District for guidance on this. Due to the mask mandate and close quarters of students on the bus, mask breaks are not permitted. I know the buses are hot! Disposable masks are easier to breathe through and we can offer those to students daily.

Thanks for your support! Please feel free to contact me with any questions or concerns.

Warmly,
Jen Molitor
Principal
